Special Correspondence of the Gazette.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—The exposition opened on Wednesday evening under flattering auspices. A large crowd was in attendance, which felt highly pleased at the great variety of attractions presented. Every foot of available space is occupied, and hundreds of exhibitors can not be accommodated. A new addition has been added to the building proper, and everything pertaining to it is under way. It promises to be a great success.

The Chicago Fair opens Monday at the West Side Driving Park. The first of this kind ever held in this city. Extra policemen are detailed to look after the interests of strangers who visit it, and every precaution will be taken by our city authorities in the interests of order and good management. Fifty thousand dollars in premiums will be distributed for the best horses, cattle, etc. A large attendance and an unusually fine display is anticipated.

Lumber is arriving in immense quantities, and many of the docks and yards are overcrowded. The season is fast but with a downward tendency. Combinations are breaking up and selling out.

Steamships and sailing vessels arrived from all directions, and a bank of fog after dark is reported in coal offices.

Several confidential clerks and cashiers of large firms are in jail. Cause, speculation with employers' money.

The projected underground railroad to suburban towns is still being agitated.

A street car company is organized, capital secured, charter received, and will commence operations at once. Fare, 3 cents.

Competition in every department of trade is the life of our city. Intellectuals are sharpened, the community benefited, and business interests advanced.

LOVE, WHIP AND SPUR.

A Couple of Capital Victims Taken With Wild Side of a Horse.

Scottsville, a pretty village about fifteen miles from the city, is a home of some of the most aristocratic people in Kentucky. It is a place noted for pretty girls and gallant young men, and among all these the sweetest belle was Miss Olive Brown and the handsomest man, Mr. Joseph Carpenter. They loved each other into desperation. In fact, as many others, the only obstacle was the parents' objection. Miss Brown's mother positively declared that she was not old enough to get married, and her sweetest's entreaties were in vain. The young people made one or two ineffectual attempts at elopement, but they were never once balked in their determination to carry out their plans.

On last Thursday young Mr. Carpenter drove in a buggy to the residence of his sweetheart, and once more besought her mother to consent to an early wedding. Mrs. Brown was inexorable. Miss Brown was fearful and Mr. Carpenter excited. At last, when every prayer had been denied, the young man boldly put the question to his sweetheart:

"Will you go with me, or mind your mother and remain at home?"

The girl looked up through her tears, first at her mother and then at her lover. "I'll go with you," said she at length.

"Then come," said she with these words young Carpenter caught his lady-love in his arms, and hurrying out of the house, leaped into the buggy that was standing in front of the door. The horse received a smart blow with the whip and jumped away in a dead run. As soon as Mrs. Brown realized the situation she screamed for assistance at the top of her voice.

In a few moments the volume of sympathy seemed to be with the young people, who had just whirled through the streets at a terrific rate of speed, taking the road that led to Walton, Tenn. The mother who's daughter had been stolen without besought somebody to go in pursuit of the fugitives, and it is possible that the young couple would have been stopped the wedding. At length Mr. Manion a young lawyer and judge of the police court, consented. In a few moments he was mounted upon a horse of speed and bottom, rattling out of the town in the direction taken by the buggy at a pace that would have captured the fastest horse in the state.

From the very start it was a race of wit and spur. The fugitives were evidently making for Esquire Fike's office, which is just across the Tennessee line, and Judge Manion was not upon their trail. It was a chase long to be remembered by the people who witnessed it. In front of a house a flock of geese, going at top speed and drawing a light horse, in which a gallant youth sat, with resolution upon his face and a beautiful girl nestled trustfully by his side. Perhaps a mile in the rear a solitary horseman, applying whip and spur thundered along over the level tundra. The buggy had been the best of the race and pulled up in front of Esquire Fike's office, fifteen minutes in the lead of the man on horseback. The clever Esquire was on the point of pronouncing the words so fervently awaited by the young people, when Judge Manion, riding like a professional jockey, bore down upon the party and signalled the officer of the law to stop. "I object to this wedding," he said, flinging himself off his palfrey and shouting:

"Upon what grounds?" asked the astonished Esquire.

"It is the wish of the lady's mother that she shall not marry. I have come at her bidding."

The young people pleaded, but all to no purpose. At length Mr. Carpenter, said, in very simple language: "We will go farther. Get in the buggy, my dear Judge Manion, you may prepare for another race. We are off for Gallatin."

The young man meant exactly what he said and in a few minutes the race was renewed. The distance to Gallatin was eighteen miles, and the buggy horse was staunch and as true as the love of the young couple he was drawing. He leaped nimbly away from the string and once more got the best of the start. Judge Manion, nothing daunted, again took the lead and put the spurs to his faithful courser. For some time the race was neck-and-neck, neither party giving the ground prize flagging; but at the finish of that distance the horse under the saddle cast a shoe and stumbled to the ground completely exhausted. The buggy then glided unaccompanied to Gallatin. A preacher was secured and the wedding was performed at the principal hotel in the presence of a dozen specially-invited guests.

T. Walker, Cleveland, O., writes: "For the last twelve months I have suffered with lumbago and general debility, commenced taking Brunner's Kidney Pills about six weeks ago, and now have great pleasure in stating that I have recovered my appetite, my complexion has grown ruddy, and feel better altogether." DR. THOMAS.

An Interview with the Renowned Divine in regard to His Conviction.

Chicago, September 11.—Dr. W. H. Thomas, the illustrious suspended, was seen last evening, and interviewed on the subject of the verdict rendered in his case.

"What is your opinion, Doctor, of the verdict?" asked the reporter.

"Well, of course I was surprised at the verdict rendered, and regretted it, not only on my own account, but for the sake of the church. I am very confident that they cannot take my published discourses and make a case against me; and I think that it was because they failed in accomplishing this result that they showed such great anxiety to hunt up every pretended conversation that I had with people, and remarks that I made on the side of my pulpit utterances, and so endeavored to create an impression against my orthodoxy. But ultimately this thing will come down to law of the church and the real facts of the case. Of course if I did not think that I was inside of a reasonably broad orthodoxy, inside of our fair constitution of the articles of religion of the Methodist Episcopal church—I should not be contending for a place in the church. I am not content that they shall assume what they call my unbelief, and assume my teachings as unorthodoxy, and, on the strength of them, turn me out of the church. I want them to know what my position of the church is on those teachings. If they drag the catechism and hymn books and half a dozen other things and make them the equals of the articles of religion in authority, they can, of course, turn me out. But they just look to it by the law of the church, justly considered. This whole matter of a trial is very foreign to my nature, and very painful to my feelings to be engaged in in any way. I prefer peace, but there has been a kind of hyper-orthodox sentiment gaining ground in Chicago, and a number of intensely orthodox preachers, or preachers who think they are intensely orthodox, who have been preaching this hyper-orthodoxy, and have been trying the best I could to deal with the doubts of the age, and have been trying to do my work on a plane where I thought I could best do it. They have seen fit to make trouble about it, and hence we are in this trouble about it."

"What do you propose doing now, Doctor, if it is an admissible question?"

"I am not permitted to preach while I am suspended. In the meantime the trustees of the People's church will supply its pulpit the best they can until the holding of the annual conference, and then if the result of the trial is favorable to me, it will leave to fulfill my engagements there. In the meantime I shall remain in the city, and do anything I can until after the conference."

"Who will be your counsel in the conference?"

"The same counsel will conduct my case."

"In case of the verdict being adverse to you, will you carry your case to a higher body; that is, take an appeal?"

"Yes; we shall carry the case to the judicial committee, and then if the verdict is adverse again to the general conference, the only way in which the case could reach the general conference would be on a writ of error. There might be a ruling as to what would constitute the texts of Methodist orthodoxy. We hope to be able to show, if I am tried on the standards or authorities of the church, outside of the articles of religion, to compel them to define what they are; but I don't think that any one on this side of the general conference will or can decide what those standards are."

FOOTVILLE.

Tobacco growers began to look anxious over the sudden change in the weather, but most of them had their crop sheltered, and from the new buildings, we should judge they had a good yield.

The so-called Mrs. Caver's, in Orfordville last week, was a success, and this week the young people can improve the pleasant evenings by attending the society at Mr. Silverthorn's, and the Mite Society at Mr. Wiggins'.

The Sun Prairie base ball club were badly beaten at Evansville by the Footville and Broadhead boys last week.

Miss Rose McElharris was the fortunate winner of the grand prize at the Catholic picnic at Taylor's Grove. There was a good crowd on the grounds considering the temperature of the day. Some dissatisfaction about the prizes, and an accident marred the pleasure of the day.

We suppose according to Peck there will be but one "Boss" girl, and that the boys could make the selection, there would be several from this village and vicinity.

Mrs. McCray, from Afton, was visiting friends in the village last week, and Mrs. Noble who has been here part of the summer, has returned to her home in Clayton county, Iowa.

Brothering at the Disciple church last Saturday evening; after services the institution of baptism will be attended to near F. M. Dann's.

The ladies missionary society will have a sale of their articles at the Young America Fair in Center, Sept. 23. They have worked faithfully and we hope they will meet with the success they deserve out of their work.

Farmers have begun their plowing but report it rather dry work.

We miss the pleasant countenance of Tom Ogden on our streets, he having shaken the dust of our village off his feet and gone to Oxford to work with Mr. Clark.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

—An Englishman estimates that there are 40,000 Americans in England today.

—The Brighton Railroad tragedy has made revolvers sell like hot cakes in London.

—The London residence for many years of the late Charles Dickens, Tavistock House, is now occupied by the Jews' College.

—Mrs. Grevy, the wife of the French President, is described as an American-looking woman, dressed plainly but elegantly in black, and always gracious to every visitor.

—A flower service yearly, at which children present bouquets, which are afterward distributed among the hospitals, is a regular institution in many London churches.

—The present Duke of Wellington has drawn a pension of $20,000 a year since the death of his father in 1852. He has also $160,000 a year from estates given to his father by the Government, and the interest on $5,500,000 voted to the great Duke by the British Parliament after the battle of Waterloo. The present Duke is seventy-four years old.

—Bridal presents in England are assuming enormous proportions. A bride was recently presented by a relative, who was a countess, with a solid silver tea service and a brougham, and at the wedding of Hon. Alfred Egerton and Miss Georges, at St. Peter's Church, the gifts numbered over one hundred and fifty—cheeks, silver, choice bric-a-brac, diamonds and pearls.

—A gentleman who knows Gen. Grant's daughter, Mrs. Sartoris, in England, says that her marriage, though it was criticized in this country, has turned out a first-rate match. Her husband has a respectable income of probably $2,000 a year, and, with a home many years in his family, he lives upon his income easily, and has plenty of time for pleasure, for hunting, fishing and boating. Nellie Sartoris has three living children, and likes England and her mode of life.

—The eccentric King of Bavaria, who is staying on the borders of the Lac des Cantons in the Villa Bensinger, after having tried the Hotel Axenstein, from which he fled, as he could not escape the sights and sounds of his fellow men, has a yacht at his service on the lake, on which he spends the greater part of the night listening to the soft sounds of the Alpine horn stationed at a given part of the shore, and on which a professional plays the favorite airs of the aesthetic monarch.

—The printers of Vienna propose to celebrate the fourth anniversary of the introduction of Guttenberg's art in that city in a manner befitting so memorable an event. An illustrated book, prepared in the best style of the printer's craft, and treating of the history of the art in the Austrian capital from its infancy, is to be one feature of the celebration. Another will be an exposition of all the inventions and improvements made during the gradual development of printing. Twenty prominent printers and publishers of Paris will attend the festivities, and all the leading cities of Europe are expected to send representatives.

A Few "How's."

How much happier life might be if minds could be trained to forget past troubles.

How hard it is to avoid listening and liking to listen to a scandal about our neighbor.

How tame life would be without troubles and difficulties to overcome.

How few value or cultivate a good pair of legs and lungs.

How the old are forgotten by the young.

How unfortunate that so many of the aged should make themselves unattractive and even repulsive to the young.

How strong we feel when we have never been sick.

How many men and women are there without a weak spot somewhere?

How whisky does bring out a man's true nature and show the made-up and artificial side of his moral character.

How much better is a "dog's life" than the lives of some men and women?

How few new brooms, after all, sweep clean unless there is a clean sweep behind them.

How sorry some people are for faults which they will commit again next month.

How awfully awful it would be if everybody without warning told the truth.

How we do love to shut our eyes to what we fear may be a reality.

How much good we could do were we only rich.

How little good we do when we are rich.

How contrary and eccentric seems one who thinks for him or herself.

How large the book in which might be written all we don't know.

How very small the book in which might be written all we do know.

Keeps' gents' furnishing house. While thus employed he was taken ill, and from Tomah was brought to his home in this city. The disease developed into cerebro spinal meningitis, which was the immediate cause of his sudden demise. Deceased was a young man who held the respect of all our citizens, and the blow falls very heavily upon his widowed mother, and his brothers and sisters.

FAIR AFFAIRS.

Everybody Busy Making Ready for a Rush To-morrow.

This morning the preparations for the more complete exhibition on the Fair ground to-morrow, caused an unusual stir. At an early hour teams laden with various articles intended for display began rolling toward the grounds, and here and there stock was being driven through the streets. At the grounds there was a still livelier showing. The number of lunch booths being put up, and the extensive preparations being made by the lemonade and gingerbread caterers indicate that their practical judgment is that there will be a crowd, and a hungry one. In the buildings hands were busy arranging various displays. Musical instruments, sewing machines, dry goods, furniture, pictures, toilet articles, jewelry,—in fact all sorts of articles found in the various displays of the merchants, which were being very attractively arranged.

Wagons, carriages, farm machinery, steamers, and various implements were also being placed in position to show to the best advantage, and the machinery to be easily worked.

The showing of stock was, as usual, more slow about coming in, but the representatives of various sections of the country, who have arrived with stock, say that there will be no lack, and the entries which are being made indicate very favorably for a big show of stock of all kinds.

BRACE UP.—No excuse for that round-shouldered, awkward figure, when all styles and sizes of Shoulder Braces are sold so cheap at Prentice & Evenson's drugstore. Ladies' Braces a specialty. Perfect fit guaranteed.

SALE OF BLOODED STOCK.

Mr. B. J. Williams, of Whitewater, has just sold to E. J. and M. D. Owens, of Footville, his thoroughbred mare Mountain Maid, the dam of Dr. Judd's sorrel horse Rocket; also dam of Thorndale, now owned by Mr. Thorndale, of New York. Thorndale had a record of 2:30, at seven years old. They also bought two fillies—both very fine ones, by the same dam, sire Smith's Brigand, Membrino. The Messrs. Owens are prosperous farmers, and don't propose to be outdone in breeding fine horses.

The Howe Scale Co., enlarged their works twice last year to meet the demand. DORRIS, SUTHERLAND & CO., General Agents, Chicago, Ill.

FIREMEN'S DANCE.

The Janesville Fire Department has arranged to give a dance in Cannon's hall to-morrow evening, in honor of the visiting firemen. Every detail will be looked after so that all who attend may be assured of a good time. Tuckwood's band will furnish the music, and tickets are placed at only fifty cents. There should be a large attendance and a hearty welcome thus shown to the firemen from elsewhere.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 74 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a. m. to-day at 56 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 52 degrees above; and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 70 degrees above. Partly cloudy.

The indications to-day are, fair weather, variable winds, stationary or higher barometer and temperature.
